Forecast For West Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 20 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mild, but often wet and windy.

Today:
A cloudy and wet day, with outbreaks of rain throughout, heaviest close to the Welsh border. Some drier spells may occur, more so in the east. Mild, but tempered by strong southerly winds that build through the day. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Today's rain will gradually weaken and clear to the southeast during the evening, leaving most areas dry through the early hours. Staying cloudy for all, and winds will ease. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Sunday:
Outbreaks of rain may return to southern and eastern areas through the day. Drier conditions in the west, although a few heavy showers may develop later. Mild and cloudy. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Wet and gloomy to start Monday, though turning dry and bright later. Remaining dry with some sunny spells on Tuesday and Wednesday, though windy at times. Staying mild throughout.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.